

Conclusion

- I learned about the architecture of Arduino microcontrollers and basic programming Concepts, including input/output operation and control structures.
- Also, It's allowing them to explore sensors and actuators for IOT applications.
- By exploring experiments like working with LEDs, reading temperature and humidity establishing Bluetooth connections.